1.0 Executive Summary

1.1 Over the past two decades, the University of Mauritius (hereinafter UoM) steadily increased enrolment and diversified their academic catalogue to reflect new economic realities. However, despite several attempts, the fundamental management structure of the UoM failed to symbiotically evolve in conformity with these rapid developments, and this persistent stagnation adversely affected the efficiency and continued operation of the University. Recognizing the need to challenge the status quo, the Council deemed fit to undertake a new comprehensive restructuring exercise.

1.2 Following my appointment as Visitor, I undertook a complete analysis of the operational issues, hierarchal structure, and experiences of the current students and staff of the University shared with me throughout the past months. Their valuable inputs helped me holistically appraise the ecosystem and note the most significant elements affecting the University: bottlenecks in day-to-day decision-making, over-centralization of power at the top management level, unclear demarcation of responsibilities, lack of long term planning, substandard facilities and services to students or staff.

1.3 It has been argued that the University needs more staff to address its problems. However, my assessment of the situation is that the University needs a much more intelligent way of working rather than any substantial increase in administrative staff.

1.4 Considering those strenuous impingements, the models of highly successful academic institutions overseas, and the realities of our local economy, I am recommending the following:

(i) A new organization structure with clearly demarcated functions and sharing of responsibilities;

(ii) New responsibilities for the two Pro-Vice-Chancellors;

(iii) Restyling of posts to shoulder specific responsibilities;

(iv) Different secretaries to serve different Statutory Committees. Council to avail itself of the services of a professional Chartered Secretary;
(v) Senate (a) to explore the possibility of setting up two new Faculties namely Faculty of Information Technology and Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences; and (b) to revamp the Faculty of Agriculture by enlarging its portfolio of courses to include Ocean Studies to develop the Ocean Economy;

(vi) The process for private tertiary institutions to affiliate with UoM should be streamlined to reduce undue processing delays;

(vii) The UoM should adopt a system of independent peer reviews in the areas of classroom performance, promotion and research;

(viii) The UoM should devise a policy for patenting inventions from university research and brokering these patents to businesses and start-ups;

(ix) The UoM should consider the setting up of an Extra Mural Department for outreach activities for the community;

(x) The UoM to set up a Consultative Committee to ensure greater collaboration between the University and the private sector;

(xi) A Unit should be established within the UoM to guide students and advice on employability/placement/career guidance/choice of fields of study;

(xii) The setting up of a UoM Research and Development Fund (UoM RDF) to finance advanced research activities and to develop the appropriate infrastructure on the campus;

(xiii) New Statutes and Revised Schemes of Service to render effective the new organization structure; and

(xiv) The University of Mauritius to sign up to the Magna Charta Universitatum (Bologna, Italy).
2.0 Introduction

2.1 Overview

The present organizational structure of the UoM is over a quarter of a century old; in 1987, management started to stringently focus on swiftly diversifying their academic portfolio to cope with a dynamic global scene, a local economic boom, and a growing student pool. Following the successful inception of various academic programmes, their vision and focus were not realigned to focus on long term sustainability, flexibility, and reliability.

As the impetus behind these surges are gradually stabilizing, and Mauritius is completing its transition from an agrarian economic model to a service-oriented one, there is an urgent need for the UoM structure to be radically altered to foster the development of a true knowledge hub. The priority should no longer be merely aggressive expansion, but rather a careful management of resources, good governance, gearing up a workforce for an increasingly competitive environment, and also integrating aspirations and expectations of students within the decision making process.

The urgency for these improvements to our core educative system should outweigh the reluctance to change demonstrated by some stakeholders who have vested interests in maintaining the status quo.

2.2 Scope

This Report is a short, concise, series of pragmatic and implementable recommendations that are designed to complement the previous Special Reports on the UoM Trust and the BPharm Programme.

The preponderant goal of this exercise is to ultimately better serve the student population and the country at large.
2.3 Methodology

To be able to provide valid, practical, suggestions to enhance the current system, it was critical to:

- Scrutinize memoranda and representations received to assess the current situation, identify key weaknesses, and incept a set of viable solutions.
- Analyze past restructuring proposals and reports.
- Meet with key stakeholders at the administrative, faculty, and student level.
- Analyze the models of successful foreign tertiary institutions.
- Interpret the amalgam of data, design a new structure, and make the necessary recommendations for a feasible implementation.

2.4 Acknowledgements

I would like to personally thank the Chairman of the Council, the Vice Chancellor, the Registrar, the Budget Director, the University of Mauritius Academic Staff Union (UMASU), the University Staff Union (USU), the University Technicians Union (UTU), the UoM Students’ Union, and everyone else who provided their input for my consideration. This proposal is a reflection of the sincere dedication of individuals who shared their concerns, provided constructive feedback on our suggestions, and proposed methods to improve the quality of education and operation of the University.
3.0 The Problem Areas

In light of the representations made, evaluative reports and documents presented, I assessed the situation and determined the major weaknesses of the current UoM system as follows:

3.1 Delays in Decision Making

A contemporary university should be governed as a competitive organisation; conversely maximizing the students’ benefits, reducing waste and overheads, proactively searching for alternative sources of funding, reacting promptly to changes in the environment, efficiently managing staff, faculties, and student affairs, and operating with minimal external undue influence. It should be a cohesive unit adaptable to a panoply of situations to ensure that they are able to act within a reasonable time frame.

Unfortunately, it is observed that there are considerable, unexplainable, delays in decision making for situations requiring immediate action or for issuing approvals to various pre-vetted initiatives such as signing research contracts and issuing payment for bills. Bottlenecks at the top management level account for most of these delays and inactions.

3.2 Excessive Centralization

The sheer size and diversity of the UoM require a dynamic structure with independent, yet cohesive, authoritative units capable of making decisions unencumbered or free from excessive and unnecessary micromanagement. A compartmentalized structure with no over-centralization of power at the top management level reduces the potency of interest groups, individual agendas: the UoM should have a fluid management, taking the right decisions for the benefit of the students and the improvement of the institution.

It was observed that the need to tunnel power through the top management, often on petty matters, is the principal cause of delays in decision-making, adversely affect the day-today operations, and reducing the overall effectiveness of the University. This unnecessary exercise limits the ability of the UoM to:

- Adapt to changing parameters and resolve issues in a timely fashion.
- Devote enough time on strategic issues.
- Favour good governance and delegation of non-critical decisions.
- Have a proper line of communication within key elements of the structure namely senior management.

3.3 Weak Governance

Secretarial services to University Committees (Council, Senate, Budget and Infrastructure, and Staff) are currently being provided by the Office of the Registrar and the same office is involved with the implementation of many decisions taken at the level of these Statutory Committees.

This methodology compromises the ability of these Committees to properly delineate between their responsibilities, accurately record and document their decisions, and be accountable for their decisions at each level due to obfuscated duties. Moreover, this system impedes timely implementation, proper monitoring of decisions, and ultimately enables each Committee to be unduly influenced, intentionally or unintentionally.

3.4 Lack of Focus on Long-term Planning

A successful education institution should be able to broadly prognosticate future market demands, improve teaching methods to reflect cutting-edge technology, recruit new talents, explore novel academic avenues, encourage in-house Research & Development, maintain a healthy environment for the students, and ultimately nurture the development of a generation. Furthermore, the University governance structure and procedures should be geared towards making the institution more dynamic, proactive that would enable it to improve its ranking both at regional and international level and to become a major player in the higher education sector in the region. This often overlooked responsibility of a University requires a dynamic management team continually refining their initiatives for long term projects, solutions, and goals that transcend their stay in Office.
The lack of proper infrastructure, accreditation for degrees offered, seating space in public areas, contingency plans for disruptions in routine operations, skewed student-lecturer ratio, overcrowded classrooms, timely stock of laboratory consumables, and absence of any discretionary funding for transient fluctuations in policy reflects an unacceptable deficiency in the planning process.

The strategic plan (2006-15) of the UoM dates back to 2006. It has to elaborate a new strategic plan with a clear vision, strategic goals and an action plan with time frame, allocation of responsibilities and financial forecast. Such a Plan would enable the University to make its case for funding, raise funds from the private sector and develop its own business plan to increase its own revenue in order to achieve its vision and strategic objectives.

3.5 Poor Maintenance of Facilities and Services

The absence of a structured senior management unit ensuring the proper upkeep of services and facilities is directly responsible for the numerous problems recently publicized in the press, complaints from the student body, and increasing hazards; the lack of proper maintenance of University grounds and facilities result in a subpar service with an increased health and safety risk for staff and students.
4.0 The Situation

Students are the essence of any educational institution and the most valuable asset a University can aspire to have. It is thus the responsibility of the managing structure to adapt, when necessary and possible, accordingly to cater for any reasonable needs that further the students’ educational aspirations and well-being, personal development, and overall happiness. After meeting with the representatives of the Students’ Union and concerned students, reviewing the current atmosphere on campus, and considering ways to improve the scholastic experience, I have deemed fit to investigate a list of issues raised by the Students’ Union and other organizations.

Within each area of concern, I have elicited an official response from the Management.

4.1 Academics

4.1.1 Students’ Concern

The Student Body and part of the teaching staff have raised several issues with the current educational system at the UoM:

- Heavy Teaching Load - The academic staff to student ratio is affecting the learning, teaching, and research output.
- Examinations – Issues with Catch-up examinations and semester to yearly course reversals.
- Research & Development - There is only sporadic involvement at the UoM.
- Space – Classes, Laboratories, and Libraries lack space and seating arrangements for all students enrolled.

4.1.2 Management Response

- Heavy Teaching Load
Lecturers are still subject to supervision and monitoring by Programme coordinators, Heads of Departments, and Deans of Faculties. Complaints received with output of lecturers or their office hours are properly looked into.

- Examinations
  Catch-up Exams are difficult to implement and requires extensive administrative processes to conduct such examinations. To lessen the burden on yearly examinations, the UoM transitioned to the semester scheduling from the previous yearly modules to become more compatible with International norms and establish a proper credit system.

- Space
  The UoM does not have enough space to expand its infrastructure.

4.1.3 Observations

- Heavy Teaching Load
  The disproportionate faculty to student ratio is one the lowest among international Universities of the same calibre. This discrepancy is severely impeding the learning process, reducing student-faculty interactions that are detrimental: (a) for exam preparation (b) enabling more personalized feedback in student evaluations for non-empirical courses, and (c) encouraging collaborative efforts or individual contributions during the class period.

While considering long term solutions to the problem, the UoM Management should also investigate short term fixes that could alleviate the current situation; enforcing a more prevalent online presence for lecturers via email or messaging boards and adopting Internationally accredited educational collaborative platforms such as Blackboard, Instructure’s Canvas, Moodle, OpenCourseWare (OCW), or other free open source platforms that could democratize access to course information in a timely fashion for every student. These e-Learning programs are aligned with the Government’s philosophy of digitizing our future generations, and it would simultaneously alleviate the time crunch experience by lecturers trying to respond to a large number of requests.

➢ Examinations
I have been informed that the recent transition from the Yearly to Semester system wasn’t a first attempt in this exercise: it was implemented a few years ago before reverting back to the yearly system. Such volatility in a core educational protocol should not be allowed or considered by the Management; they should thoroughly investigate the feasibility of any measure before implementing it, standing by their decisions if they have overwhelming evidence that it is the right course of action, and most importantly they need to develop policies that would not disrupt the educational experience or graduation path of existing students. Reformed policies should, when possible, be applied only to first year students and be valid throughout their time at the UoM.

The UoM management should develop a more comprehensive catch-up examination policy that takes into account extenuating circumstances, faculty personnel preferences, and the overall academic performance of a student. In warranted cases approved by the lecturer and department chair, arrangements should be made to facilitate the evaluation of the student.

➢ Research and Development
The UoM has had little emphasis on Research & Development in the past and did not foster a culture of in-house developments of student-faculty research projects. The lack of a clear vision in distinguishing between fundamental research and applied research, prioritizing projects relevant to the local Mauritian community, excessive bureaucracy and red tape in approving research projects, and poor support at the Management level have contributed in making ventures into R&D too much of a hassle.

Research is a key element in building the reputation of a university. It is given the highest priority in any ranking exercise. Innovation represents 2.5% of marks for world ranking. This refers to the university’s ability to help industry with innovations, inventions and consultancy. The UoM should aim at generating higher industry income through innovation and knowledge transfer. Moreover, to develop and sustain a dynamic research sector, the UoM should establish strategies to increase research by its academics.

4.2 Scholarship Scheme Requisites

4.2.1 Students’ Concern

Needy students are currently unable to benefit from the Human Resources, Knowledge and Arts Development Fund due to a particular stringent criterion that could be safely altered with minimal to no impact to the integrity of the program.

4.2.2 Management Response

The Human Resources, Knowledge, and Arts Development Fund (HRKADF) is managed by the Ministry of Education and Human Resources and has provided scholarships or financial aid to about 400 needy students over the past five years.

The UoM recognizes the importance of Merit and Need based awards, and while they strongly support the requests made by the Students’ Union for the deregulation of HRKADF Scholarship scheme to allow more underprivileged students access to higher education, their options are severely constricted in providing tangible help; the HRKADF does not fall under their purview and the limited funds available to the UoM constrains the scalability of their Needy Student scheme.

Their recommendation to increase the 10% acceptance rate of the HRKADF is to urge the Ministry to revise its rules to allow more students to qualify for financial assistance: removing criterions that require that one of the parents of the applicant to have passed away for eligibility.
4.2.3 Observations

The University should be able to efficiently distinguish between Merit and Need based awards, have special provisions for students who are close to graduation but are financially unable to due to extenuating circumstances, and provide a more comprehensive and accessible Need based scholarship scheme to cater for talented, promising, young Mauritians that lack the resources to expand their horizons by independently seeking funding.

4.3 UoM Cafeteria

4.3.1 Students’ Concern

Students are dissatisfied with quality of service, unhygienic conditions, limited choices, and the overall atmosphere of the UoM Cafeteria. Several proposals have been made to the management but no definite solutions have been found.

4.3.2 Management Response

An open bidding exercise was initiated in May 2012 allowing all interested service providers to bid for the management of the UoM Cafeteria. A Bid Evaluation Committee of the same composition as preceding years was set up to examine the proposals. The UoM Students’ Union was represented by its President who shared students’ views and strong reservations on the existing caterer in writing and verbally at the Committee meetings. These concerns were included in the report sent to the UoM’s Budget and Infrastructure Committee.

The Bid Evaluation Committee met formally on 11 occasions and a final report was submitted on the 19th December 2012. Two Bidders, including the existing caterer, were shortlisted, but no consensus could be reached to select a service provider. The Bid Evaluation Committee then proceeded to a vote where five out of the eight permanent members suggested that the bidding exercise be re-floated and the remaining three were in favor of renewing the contract of the existing caterer. The UoM Budget and Infrastructure Committee then deemed appropriate to:

- Re-Float the Bidding Exercise
- Offer a six month extension to the 30th June 2013 to the existing caterer with a stricter monitoring of their services.
4.3.3 Observations

In light of the recent controversy associated with the current caterer, their performance over the next five months should be closely monitored by the management and complaints from students should be properly recorded and investigated. Shortcomings of past caterers and expectations of future Cafeteria service providers should be duly laid out in the upcoming bidding exercise to ensure that all parties involved are aware of their responsibility towards the University and its students.

My recommendation would be to completely privatize the dining areas to offer different service providers simultaneously the opportunity to operate. Having separate caterers manage their own space would ensure a higher quality of service, a competitive pricing to students on a budget, a variety of choices for students and staff, and the assurance that industry standards of health, hygiene, and safety are strictly enforced. Such an adoption would reduce the accountability from the UoM management for specific violations as caterers’ licenses could be revoked and imposed fines in particular cases.

4.4 Grounds and Facilities

4.4.1 Students’ Concern

The existing football pitch is poor condition; it is improperly levelled, it has no netting in the goal posts, there are no lighting facilities, and there is no proper fencing to secure the field. The UoM Sports Complex at the Maryse Justin Stadium is also not properly maintained.

4.4.2 Management Response

In 2006, Rs 230,000 was invested in improving the existing football pitch by fencing the area and partially leveling the ground. Due to the unique topography of the terrain, a complete leveling would be a costly investment and require a considerable amount of time to undertake. Nevertheless, a new renovation project for the leveling and upgrading of the football pitch is planned for 2013.
Although the UoM owns the land on which the Maryse Justin Stadium was built, the management of the stadium constructed for the 1985 Indian Ocean Games was transferred to the Ministry of Youth and Sports for International Sports Meetings and training of national athletes by a cabinet decision. The UoM is only responsible for managing a relatively small adjacent area housing the outdoor tennis, volleyball, and basketball courts. Renovation and repair works are also underway.

The UoM football pitch and the facilities at the Maryse Justin stadium are rented out to the public throughout the year which increases the effective wear and tear considerably.

4.4.3 Observations
Recreational and extracurricular activities should be considered an integral aspect of the student University life experience and the management should invest accordingly to maintain the grounds to promote sporting and healthy exercises, and to provide unobtrusive entertainment platforms throughout campus for students and staff.

4.5 UoM Students at MGI

4.5.1 Students’ Concern
UoM Students from the Faculty of Social Studies and Humanities attending courses at the Mahatma Gandhi Institute (MGI) do not enjoy the same facilities in the MGI Cafeteria as students in the UoM Cafeteria.

4.5.2 Management Response
Courses at the MGI are operated in close collaboration with the MGI and despite being UoM Students, the day-to-day operations of the facilities fall under the purview of the MGI. The management will attempt to point out these shortcomings with the management at the MGI to find an acceptable solution.
4.5.3 Observations

Provisions should be made to ensure that students enrolled at the UoM have unhindered access to the same basic services regardless their individual department or course arrangements, be it temporary or permanent.

4.6 Public Transportation

4.6.1 Students’ Concern

There is an overwhelming apprehension over the public transportation system at the UoM. Students have complained on several occasion that:

- Most students are mostly unaware of the arrival and departure times of busses transiting through the UoMRéduit Bus Stop.
- Students doing Industrial Training are not issued a bus pass or a memo to benefit from free transportation.
- The Bus stations at the Bus Park and the Auditorium are unable to accommodate all the students and are not properly lighted.

4.6.2 Management Response

The UoM Management recognizes the current state of affairs of the public transportation system and acknowledges the students’ complaints. They believe that:

- The presence of a Road inspector will alleviate scheduling concerns
- While they support the claims for Industrial Training students, the relevant authorities have not acceded to the same due to:
  - The lack of reliable statistics on the students’ movements as Industrial Trainees travel throughout the Island on almost all routes which make any attempt to develop an administration or monitoring system quasi impossible.
  - Payments being issued by the Government to Transport Service providers based only on reliable data provided by the UoM and National Transport Authority for routes from a student’s residence to the UoM.
- The Management recognizes the limitations of the current shelters.
4.6.3 Observations

Timely transportation is vital for students arriving on time and reaching their destination with limited interference. The severe deficiency in accessible transit information on the UoMRéduit Bus routes should be remediated promptly without any further deflection of blame or rejection of responsibility. In addition to printed informative posters placed at shelters or in high volume areas, it is recommended that the management considers the extent of the pervasion of Internet enabled devices throughout campus and if warranted bus routes and times should be regularly updated on a website or on a dedicated cross-platform mobile app.

Management should diligently pursue issues relating to bus shelters upgrades to support late evening classes, ensure the safety of students throughout the day, and to protect the large student population in bad weather with the competent authorities. Moreover, the Management should be more proactive in implementing Governmental Policy to provide free transportation for University instructed transits and develop a proposal that would be acceptable to the relevant authorities to ensure that no mandatory travel is excluded from their constitutional right.

4.7 Laboratory Equipment and Fees

4.7.1 Students’ Concern

Students have complained about the poor quality of equipment in laboratories, the lack of maintenance on expensive and crucial equipment, and having to pay laboratory fees even when they are not taking any lab based modules.

4.7.2 Management Response

From 2006 to 2010, the UoM suffered from the non-provision of adequate capital grants to sustain the renewal of laboratory equipment which resulted in a temporary phases of unavailability of proper lab equipment, prolonged used of ageing equipment despite potential safety hazards, and rendering more equipment unserviceable.

To compensate the decreasing capital grants, the UoM introduced a Laboratory Fee for all Science and Technology students to sustain the procurement of chemicals, glassware, and other consumables regardless of their specific laboratory registration. The fee is amortized over the duration of the programme and payable at a fixed rate per annum.

4.7.3 Observations

The laboratory equipment is an integral part of the hands-on learning process to promote the importance of science, foster an accurate and precise laboratory ethic, and provide the students with skills that will be significant throughout their respective careers. Most of the current equipment currently in use at the UoM labs are of poor quality and affect the student’s ability to correctly understand the theorems behind the practical or derive the needed inferences for particular experiments. We should not encourage future scientists to compromise their learning process due to poor equipment and students who properly handle laboratory equipment should not have to fear for their safety due to unstable or antiquated equipment; potentially unsafe equipment should be replaced immediately, chemicals should be disposed accordingly with special considerations for organic solvents and heavy metals, and procurement invoices should be properly planned so that required items are in stock for relevant laboratory experiments.

The lack of transparency in the laboratory fees are affecting the morale of the students and the UoM should immediately consider an alternative way to amortize the fluctuations in available funding by (a) charging students only in years where they are enrolled in a laboratory module or (b) finding additional sources of revenue.

4.8 UoM Space

4.8.1 Students’ Concern

With the increasing number of students enrolled, there is presently a considerable problem of space at the library, cafeteria, and laboratories.

4.8.2 Management Response

The UoM does not have sufficient space on its campus to support further expansion and any new project should be performed off campus which will require substantial financial resources.
4.8.3 Observations

The steadily increasing enrolment has not been linearly matched with increased seating arrangements in public areas and students are often unable to find space in the library, the cafeteria, and even in some popular laboratory modules. Since each student is paying for the same access and facilities, it is inconceivable that no provisions are being made to cater for everyone equally and the Management should not dismiss their concerns by rationalizing spatial limitations; a genuine attempt should be made to investigate potential solutions to the problem; the possibility of building vertically on existing buildings, making a more efficient usage of the current space, improve scheduling of courses to ensure optimal access to public areas throughout the day, and make use of the land available on the University Farm for additional buildings.

4.9 Security

4.9.1 Students’ Concern

UoM Students attending practical sessions, field work at the UoM farm, late evening class, and those who have to wait for the less frequent bus routes experienced a considerable amount of security and safety issues recently. Moreover, the Students’Union is complaining that the road passing beneath the UoM flyover is unsafe.

4.9.2 Management Response

The access to the UoM Farm has a fair amount of traffic during business hours from the adjacent offices of the Ministry of Agro-Industry and Food Security, and a watchman is posted near the entrance of the Farm. Security officers are already posted at the Information Kiosk adjoining the Octave Wiehe auditorium.

The strip of the J. Nyerere Road from Rose Hill through the UoM Campus is open to two-way vehicular traffic in the morning until 9:15 am and in the afternoon from 3:30 to 5:00 pm, and although it would be the Management’s preference that this road is fully closed during academic periods, the decision does not fall under their scope.

Despite these pre-existing security and safety measures, further security and safety solutions will be looked into; police patrols will be requested more regularly and posting of Police officers from 6pm to 8pm will be considered during academic periods. Given the number of institutions and facilities regularly used by the public in the neighborhood, a Police post is warranted in the vicinity of the UoM.

4.9.3 Observations
I support the recommendation of the Management to have a Police post in the region to reduce the worries and fears of students. It is the University’s responsibility to ensure that each student is part of a safe environment and all concerns raised warrant an in-depth monitoring of the situation; feedback received from the students and staff should be considered seriously and measures to deter crime within the premises should be more aggressively pursued.

4.10 Alumni Based Network

4.10.1 Students’ Concern
There is no Alumni Network at the UoM.

4.10.2 Management Response
The Alumni Association project was revived and an Executive Committee has been set up to develop the Alumni network.

4.10.3 Observations
The Students’ Union remarked upon the disparity between the UoM and foreign universities in terms of alumni based networks. I believe that the current Management has neglected the value allowing students to network with past graduates, gaining insight from students who are currently working in their desired fields, being able to find professional avenues in a structured way, and ultimately to keep in touch with all their alma mater after they graduate.

I believe that such a structure is quintessential for the University to be able to secure additional sources of revenue, guide students to the importance of networking, and improve their academic programs based on the feedback received from past graduates.
Endowment Funds

Endowment funds are used to finance a portion of the operating or capital requirements of the University. There are also examples of restricted endowments that are intended to fund specific areas. Examples – endowed professorships (also known as named chairs), and endowed scholarships or fellowships.

Endowment Funds have become an essential element of financial sustainability of universities in the USA. The endowment funding culture is strong in the USA and Canada and at Cambridge and Oxford Universities. The UoM should follow the trend of reputed universities across the world and build endowment funds.

Internationally, Alumni networks are often the largest financial contributors to a University; Michael Bloomberg singlehandedly contributed over 1.1 billion USD to his alma mater, John Hopkins, and millions of alumni throughout the world have financially contributed to their University’s endowment, they also provide exclusive discounts or job offers to current students, and some successful networks facilitate the post-graduation transition into the workforce.

4.11 Onsite Utilities

4.11.1 Students’ Concern

Toilets are in a deplorable state; they are unhygienic, poorly maintained, lack essentials at various locations, and unable to cater for the increasing number of students.

4.11.2 Management Response

In 2007, the Tertiary Education Commission (TEC) started to impose budget cuts on recurring expenditure which included building maintenance and recruitment of janitorial staff. After 6 years, this cutback resulted in deprecating facilities especially in the Old Campus where some of the toilet facilities are over 20 years old.

A bidding exercise was attempted in 2012 to improve the conditions of these facilities, but was unsuccessful due to funding constraints. A new attempt is being made in 2013 under the Health and Safety Capital Budget for Rs. 5 million in essential renovation and repairs.
4.11.3 Observations

I am utterly dissatisfied with the Management’s laid-back stance in the matter and the lack of actionable maintenance for a fundamental service that needs to be provided to the students on a daily basis. Regardless of state cuts and the management’s lassitude, the University should not have allowed its facilities to continually degrade for 6 years without independently ensuring that they meet a minimum of sanitation throughout.

I recommend that essential parts of cleaning services be outsourced to guarantee an acceptable level of hygiene throughout campus; the Management should carefully compile a list of high traffic areas requiring continual maintenance, develop an efficient cleaning schedule of facilities, formalize the expectations of such a service, and start a bidding exercise to invite professional businesses to take over cleaning operations.

5.0 Organizational Structure

5.1 Overview

The Council has recognized the need for a comprehensive restructuring of the UoM Organization since its 26th May Meeting in 2010; they attempted to formulate a restructuring plan to remedy the increasing deficiencies in the structure, but were met with significant resistance by various stakeholders and each attempt failed to reach a consensus.

Following my systematical analysis of all previous restructuring reports, memoranda submitted by various parties, listening to various comments and suggestions, and surveying the current state of affairs, I concur with the Council’s assessment for an urgent need to restructure the UoM. I have attempted to incorporate all the inputs provided to me and based my proposal on establishing an immediate decentralization of power, providing parallel pathways for decision-making, proper demarcation of duties, reallocation of responsibilities, accountability and good governance and establishing a self-sustaining system capable of developing long term solutions.
5.2 Main Divisions

Under the new structure, the UoM will consist of three main divisions: the Academic Division headed by the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academia), the Planning and Resources Division headed by the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources), and the Facilities and Services Division headed by the Chief of Facilities and Services. The three heads of division will report directly to the Vice-Chancellor. The Proposed Organizational Structure is visually represented in section 5.3 which includes the suggested hierarchy and broad tasks falling under the purview of each division.
5.3 Proposed Organizational Structure
5.4 Key Features

5.4.1 The Posts of the Vice-Chancellor, Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academia), Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources), and the Chief of Facilities and Services will be performance based contractual positions whose renewal are contingent upon satisfactory progress.

5.4.2 The Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academia) will oversee all academic affairs and will be occupied by an experienced academician responsible for overseeing all academic affairs, student affairs, academic and research excellence, and activities pertaining to the teaching and learning processes.

5.4.3 The Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources) will be opened to both academicians and non-academicians who will be responsible for overseeing administrative and operational areas in budget formulation and implementation, human resources management, marketing, public relations, and long-term planning and development.

5.4.4 The Chief of Facilities and Services will be responsible for the management of grounds, facilities, and services in order to efficiently support the core operation of the UoM; he will be expected to provide an enriching experience to students and staff, maintain a dynamic interaction with all human elements of the University, manage space and physical assets, on-campus security, health and safety, library and computer facilities, and procurement of necessary inventory.

5.4.5 The Registrar will be responsible for the administration of the affairs of a population of some 12,000 students. She will oversee programme enquiries, student records, registration, examination requests, student relations, and graduation arrangements.

5.4.6 The Director of Human Resources will report to the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources) to develop UoM staffing strategies, support the execution of strategic objectives, provide guidance on organizational developments, oversee recruitment and promotion of University staff, and will be responsible for the periodic posting of administrative staff across the campus in consultation with the relevant heads of sections and chairpersons of Committees.

5.4.7 The Director of Marketing and Externally Funded Activities will be responsible to the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources) for the marketing of UoM Services to the community, management of externally funded projects, and improve the financial sustainability of the UoM through an increase inflow of external funds from Industry or Development sponsors. Consequently, the post of Director of Consultancy and Contract Research Center will no longer be required.

5.4.8 The restyled Assistant Registrars, Administrative Managers, will report directly to the respective heads of sections where they are posted. Their postings will be subject to period rotation by the Director of Human Resources to provide them with an extensive experience set of the different sections within the UoM to enhance their ability on the job. Those Administrative Managers serving under Student Affairs, headed by the Registrar, are allowed to retain their former denomination of Assistant Registrar, if they so wish. Administrative Managers, after having acquired the necessary experience, are eligible (1) for promotion to Senior Administrative Managers and subsequently (2) for applying for directorships, Chief of Facilities and Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources) subject to acquiring the necessary qualifications attached to these positions. New incumbents to the position of Administrative Manager will be selected from the grade of Administrative Officer.

5.4.9 Two Laboratory Coordinator posts will be created for the Faculty of Science and the Faculty of Engineering respectively to oversee the proper administration, supervision, maintenance, replacement, upgrading, and coordination of all laboratory facilities within the two faculties.

5.4.10 The Internal Auditor reports to the Audit Committee.

5.4.11 The Director for Legal Affairs will provide legal advice and first-hand assistance to the Statutory Committees and to the Vice-Chancellor. All legal issues involving the University will be channeled to the Director for Legal Affairs.

5.4.12 A professional Chartered Secretary with at least 10 years post qualification experience in the field may be recruited on contract basis to provide secretarial services to the Council or alternatively the services of a reputable firm could be sought. The Chartered Secretary may be assisted by an Administrative Manager to ensure prompt implementation of decisions taken by Council.
5.4.13 It is recommended that National Research Fellowship at the University be opened to accept all nationalities on a fixed-term, renewable, contractual basis to encourage high level research. Their pay should be performance-based and contingent upon the additional research funding they attract or their research output.

5.5 Staffing

The proposed reorganization will entail a reallocation of responsibilities with the consequent restyling of certain posts and the creation of a few new posts.

5.5.1 New Posts

To improve Organizational efficiency and service delivery, the following posts are recommended to be created and filled:

(a) Chief of Facilities and Services (Contractual – Full Time)
(b) Director – Legal Affairs (Contractual – Part-time)
(c) Council Secretary (Contractual basis)
(d) Director – Human Resources
(e) Director – Marketing and Externally Funded Activities
(f) Manager – Health and Safety
(g) Manager – Procurement and Supply
(h) Laboratory Coordinator

5.5.2 Restyled Posts

To establish a clearer demarcation of responsibilities in key management positions, it is recommended that the following posts are restyled as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Existing Post Title</th>
<th>Restyled Post Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pro-Vice-Chancellors</td>
<td>(a) Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academia)</td>

<tr>

<td>Finance Director</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Assistant Registrar</td>
<td>Administrative Manager</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Deputy Registrar (Vacant)</td>
<td>Senior Administrative Manager</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
5.6 New Schemes of Service and Statutes

The recommended schemes of service for the new and restyled posts are listed in Annex A and the revised Statutes to render effective the proposed organization structure are expounded in Annex B.

5.7 Senior Management Committee

To ensure organic cooperation between the three Divisions, integration of Senior Management participation, and timely implementation of the Council’s policies, it is recommended that a Senior Management Committee be set up consisting of the Vice-Chancellor, the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Academia), the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources), the Registrar, the Chief of Facilities and Services, the Deans of Faculties, the Finance Director and the Director of Human Resources. Other senior staff members may be co-opted when specific measures requiring their input or involvement are being undertaken.
6.0 Other Recommendations

6.1 Council Membership

6.1.1 The current Statutes establish a Council composition of the Pro-Chancellor as Chairperson, the Vice-Chancellor, the Pro-Vice-Chancellors, a Dean of Faculty serving on rotation, an elected representative from the academic staff, the non-academic staff, and the Students, and such other members not exceeding 9 nominated by the Prime Minister.

While the current statutes offer a fair representation of the key bodies of the UoM, it does not necessarily imply that it is an ideal composition capable of making the best decisions and being equipped to analyze the plethora of issues before them. I would recommend that the current Statutes are reinforced by:

- Inviting the nomination of members from recognized professional bodies and institutions such as the Medical Council, the Bar Council, the Council of Professional Engineers, and the Chamber of Commerce and Industry. These experts would be able to supplement the current Council by providing valuable insight on matters related to their field of expertise and ensuring that the highest possible standards are maintained.

- Requiring that the various bodies represented in the Council nominate members who are fully aware of the scope of their responsibilities, have an interest in the matters that the Council will be involved with, and are fully prepared to assume their responsibilities rather than having an elected representation who may or may not comprehend the extent of their duties.
6.2 New Provisions in Statutes

Greater Openness

6.2.1 New provisions have been made in the Statutes to ensure greater openness and transparency and participative democracy as emphasized in Statutes 30 (4) to 30 (7).

Employability – Linkages with Other Sectors

6.2.2 The UoM should establish standing structures in addition to the Advisory Committees to ensure consultations with the private sector and address issues of employability. The University of Mauritius Act has been amended through the Economic and Financial Measures Miscellaneous Act 2012 to enable the UoM to set up a Consultative Committee to ensure greater collaboration between the University and the private sector. The Consultative Committee would be responsible for advising the UoM on -

- The development of programmes of study and research, in line with the needs of the labour market;
- The relevance of the curricula of programmes of study to the labour market needs;
- Effective quality assurance of the programmes of study; and
- Placements, internships and research.

The UoM Council should amend its statutes to set up a Consultative Committee at the earliest. A Unit should also be established within the UoM to guide students and advice on employability/placement/career guidance/choice of fields of study.

6.3 Cheques Signatories

6.3.1 As per current procedure at the UoM, the Budget Director and the Vice-Chancellor are co-signatories of all cheques to be signed. There have been significant delays in effecting payments due to over centralization of authority at the Vice-Chancellor’s Office. This hinders a broad spectrum of projects, services, and orders throughout the University. To reduce administrative bottlenecks, it is highly recommended that the authorized cheques signatories be (1) the Finance Director and (2) either the Vice-Chancellor or the Pro-Vice-Chancellor (Planning and Resources) to ensure a timely continued operation at the UoM.

6.4 Financial Issues

6.4.1 The UoM Act and its Statutes provide a comprehensive framework for the University to operate without external interference. This form of autonomy is crucial to maintain the healthy development of the University that can effectively be on par with International Universities. Moreover I recommend that:

- The University of Mauritius signs up to the Magna Charta Universitatum (Bologna, Italy);
- The University publishes a Bi-Annual Research Output Audit Report for ensuring greater transparency in the activities of the University.

6.5 New Faculties

6.5.1 Faculty of Information Technology

With the increased permeation of Information Technology in all economic spheres, the extensive sophistication of modern technological devices, and the increasing student population taking ICT courses or seeking to follow such courses at the UoM, I strongly recommend that the Senate explores the possibility of setting up a new Faculty of Information Technology capable of coping with the new fields of technological development to increase the competitiveness of Mauritius.

6.5.2 Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences

To be able to successfully promote Mauritius as a modern health services and medical touristic hub, it is imperative that tertiary institutions begin to build a comprehensive set of needed skills to prepare the workforce for upcoming demands. It is in this context that Senate is exploring the feasibility of setting up a Faculty of Medicine at UoM.
I understand that a partnership agreement with the University of Geneva for full-fledged courses in medicine in English medium is still being processed since 2010 - moving from one committee to another. This gives a poor image of the UoM decision making process, the more so because reputed institutions as University of Geneva have agreed to work with Mauritius only due to our excellent bilateral relations and not because they have imperatively to work with UoM.

The Faculty of Science already offers an extensive set of courses (Code SC 231, 301, 330, 401, 402, 403, 527, 541 and 542) in the field which could be transferred to the new faculty with minor modifications to fit the new parameters.

6.5.3 Faculty of Agriculture, Life and Ocean Sciences

The Faculty of Agriculture is an icon of the UoM originally founded as the School of Agriculture in 1914. It has significantly contributed to produce excellent graduates during the subsequent agriculture boom and assisted the socio-economic development of the country for almost a century. Unfortunately, the recent drastic changes in this economic sector has sapped interest in the field, and the Faculty is experiencing a continuous decline with only 350 students currently enrolled, the lowest number of students across all Faculties.

In light of the Government’s vision, as depicted in the 2012-2015 Programme, to increase the efficiency of the agro-industry and to exploit the immense potential of the exclusive maritime economic zones, I strongly recommend that:

(a) The UoM prioritizes a complete overhaul of its Faculty of Agriculture to include technical skills that will complement the Governmental policy of diversifying the agricultural products and developing technologies that would improve livestock, milk production, hydroponics, and fruits and vegetables cultivation. Focus should be made on courses that would train students in securing long-term food security and safety to reduce imports, improve efficiency of current cultivations, and minimize waste or dependency on non-eco-friendly production methods. The following fields of studies should be fully explored:
- Food Science
- Crop and Soil Science
- Cell and Molecular Biology
- Microbiology
- Animal Science
- Statistics and Agribusiness

(b) The Senate evaluates the addition of a comprehensive Ocean Sciences programme to further research in the field, maximize the exploitation of our exclusive zones, and develop a firmer understanding of our indigenous chemical processes, physical attributes, oceangeology, and biological specimens to develop viable long-term commercial applications and better protect our eco-system.

6.6 UoM as an Awarding Body

6.6.1 I am informed that applications from private tertiary education institutions for affiliation and for UoM to become an awarding body are an extremely long process. It takes two to three years or more for affiliation to be approved, entailing high expenditure from promoters. I recommend that the process should be streamlined and promoters who seek affiliation of UoM should be made aware at the outset of all the costs that they would be required to meet. A timeframe should be established for processing such applications.

6.7 Peer Review

6.7.1 UoM should make constant efforts to improve quality of teaching, maintain standards and the quality of graduates and their employability. UoM should introduce a well-defined protocol for (a) Internal peer review for classroom performance and non-classroom curriculum activity;
(b) External peer review for promotions; and
(c) Peer review for research.
6.8 Patenting

6.8.1 The UoM should devise a policy for patenting inventions from university research and brokering these patents to businesses and start-ups. The UoM should consider setting up a Knowledge Transfer Office.

6.9 Extra Mural Department

6.9.1 The UoM should consider the setting up of an Extra Mural Department for outreach activities for the community.
7.0 Cost Implications

The extra costs associated with the new organization structure amount to a maximum of Rs 7 million annually representing 1% increase in total staff costs for the UoM. It is to be noted that some of the posts could be filled by way of internal promotion of existing staff in which case the extra costs will be even less. 8.0 The UoM Research and Development Fund

8.1 Objective

It is recommended that a dedicated fund, the UoM Research and Development Fund (UoM RDF), be established to set up a platform that will focus on advancing research, providing researchers cutting edge technology, invite foreign experts to further expand ongoing projects, securing access to key scientific journals or publications, and developing the necessary infrastructure to support local Research, Development, and testing of new technologies.

8.2 Research Sectors

Due to the limited initial resources available, the UoM RDF should be streamlined to focus on short term key technologies to enhance local Industries and establish a strong foundation that will support long term national goals. The implementation plan and resource allocation over the next three years should focus on the following:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Research Focus</th>

8.3 Infrastructure Development Plan

The UoM Research and Development Fund can earmark funds to finance new infrastructure development projects within the Réduit campus to improve R&D logistics and expand facilities therein as required by the ongoing research projects.

8.4 Funding (2013 – 2015)

The Fund shall be exclusively used by the University for the undertaking of Research and Development activities as stipulated in 8.2 and 8.3 without being computed into the annual grant restrictions of the Tertiary Education Commission (TEC). It is recommended that the UoM RDF be made of contributions from the private sector with matching grants from the Government; a proposed amount of Rs 500 million is to be earmarked as seed capital for the period of 2013 to 2015 to establish a baseline for all future projects.

Potential sources of such funding are:

(a) Matching Grants from the Government could come from the proceeds of the National Lottery;

(b) Contributions from the private sector could come from their Corporate Social Responsibility Funds (CSR), banking institutions, insurance companies, and telecommunications companies. (Note: CSR Guidelines will have to be amended to allow for the implementation of this measure);

(c) Long term revenues will originate from proceeds generated from the commercialization of intellectual property rights developed by the in-house research projects and will be credited to the Fund to sustain its future investments; and

(d) Endowments from past students and alumni.
9.0 Conclusion

9.1 This Report is an extension of the preceding two Special Reports on the UoM Trust and BPharm Programme altogether designed to provide an in-depth analysis of the current flaws in the Organizational Structure at the UoM, devise feasible methods to holistically improve the daily operations of UoM, and to resolve the current issues that students and staff are facing.

9.2 It is my strong belief that the recommendations in this Report, if implemented correctly within a reasonable time frame, will drastically improve the conditions of students and faculty, enhance the quality of education offered, establish a more responsible management, cope more easily with the fast paced technological evolution, produce more world class graduates, and ultimately position the University of Mauritius as an internationally recognized Institute of Higher Learning, Research and Development. The new structure has an internal holistic coherence which does not allow piecemeal implementation.

9.3 The impetus for change that motivated this Report should not be quelled nor go unheard; we are in a unique position where we have a dynamic and proactive Government actively seeking the enhancement and long term progress of Mauritius: it is time to bid the static, antiquated, organizational structure of the University of Mauritius a final farewell.
